Foreword

This year's theme: "Sights and Sounds of '66" has been selected to remind us of the multiplicity of things we see and hear that swing the pendulum of life from one extreme to another. The "Sights" from gayety to sadness, and the "Sounds" from Cheers to Jeers. Our "Sights" are real, our "Sounds" are symbolic.

As you turn the pages of The Coahoman you can relive "Sights" and "Sounds" that will live in your memories forever.

DEDICATION

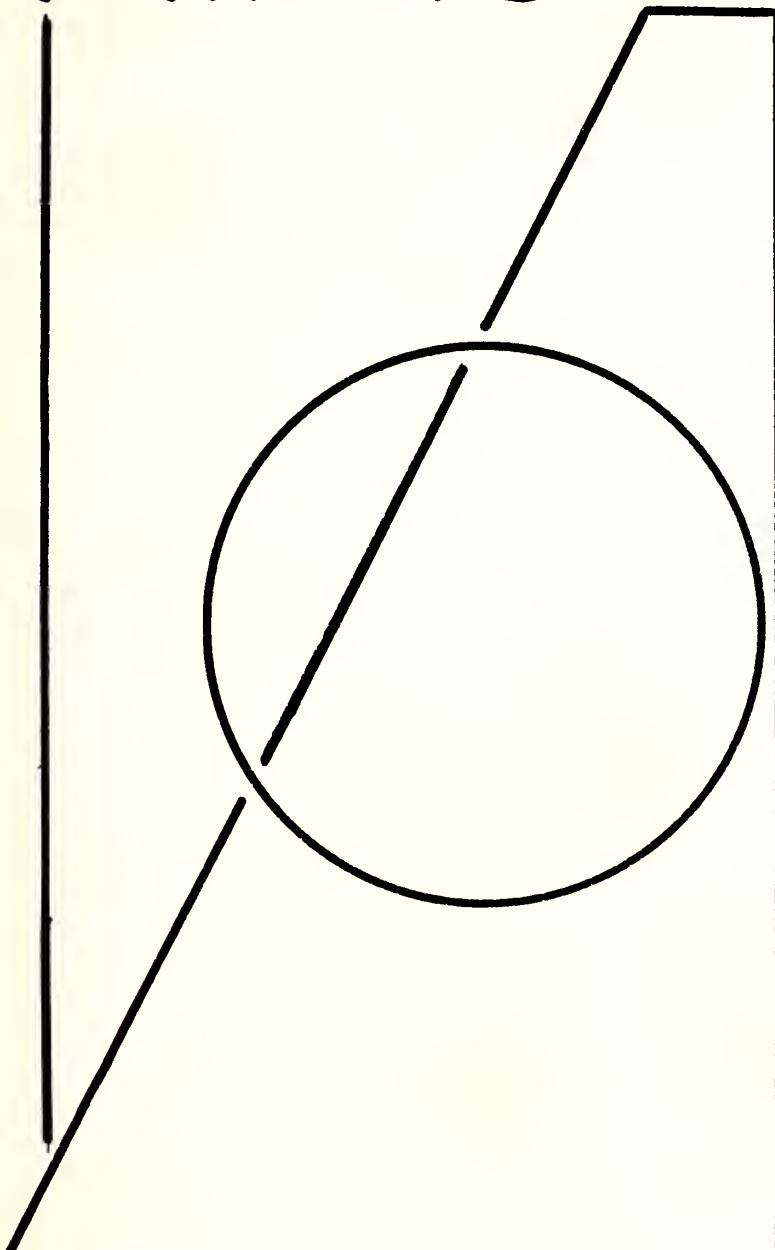

Because you startled the State of Mississippi with its first "Sight" of a female Band Director; because you charmed the entire state with the "Sounds" of the "then" strange instruments; because you have worked long and hard through the years to bring honor and fame to our school through excellent band performances in local, state, and out of state festivals, parades and programs; because you have taken personal interest in each member of the Band; because you have disciplined them and caused them to "always respect the Maroon and White" and "play their hearts out for it"; because you have instilled the student body with enthusiasm, hope, love, loyalty and pride as our Band furnished the "Sights and Sounds", we dedicate the 1966 Coahoman to you, our first and only Band Director, Miss Consuelia Carter.

President's Message

Coahoma Junior College announced its opening in September, 1949 with a class of 22 students. It has established itself in the view of many educators and observers as one of the most formidable weapons in the arsenal of the war on ignorance. This year the college is striving to teach more than 750 college students to learn to live together. There is sense, perhaps, in what the most practical aspect of what the college strives to do through its teachings as a community; to inculcate within students a spirit of service - man to man and man to society and government; to help students learn to live calmly amid the tensions of the modern world; to see all human relations as a challenge toward more humane and moral behavior; and to seek for themselves in the midst of problems and pressures a kind of serenity and personal poise that will make them of the greatest possible service to mankind.

The changes taking place in education in the south are a logical part of the overall change in the general educational economy of the world. Education is being regarded as a highly essential production tool. The economics and techniques of it are given more careful consideration than ever before. New education materials and application techniques are being carefully appraised. Because of this challenge a new breed of student has emerged - a breed made up of men with plenty of ability and enough guts and whatever else it takes to be successful. Out of this midst and through the walls of Coahoma Junior College have come teachers, lawyers, ministers, doctors, nurses, tradesmen and many other fine responsible American citizens.

President's Message

The Federal Programs have provided funds for the construction of facilities and for the support of educational programs in many fields. All the opportunities for student growth and development, and the many student aids came as a result of the administration's desire to bring to our students the financial benefits made possible by our state, local and federal programs. The National Defense Student Loan and the Work-Study Programs have meant much in that students of limited financial means are provided assistance to attend college as well as to the students who have not been raised in an environment where college going was a normal and almost inevitable destination. More important it has brought a strong partnership between education and the states which has been a long time coming, but is now apparent that education is the child of politics - not the politics of deals and maneuvers but politics of compassion, of social justice, of principle and of American progress. Through these programs the unusual promise of the intellectually potential, of the academic financially handicapped, and the inadequate environmental college student has been discovered. It is true that all students will not look toward the university as an immediate objective. After one or two years of experience in a junior college, students may enter the labor market full time. These programs have made education beyond the high school level available to all who want to benefit by it.

Our next important task will be to bring honor to our institution and the students by meeting standards set up by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools which will qualify our institution to become a member in the very near future. However, the goals and functions of the college are evaluated regularly in the light of tomorrow's needs so that students may appreciate its offerings. There is no foolproof preparation for the future, no individual can afford to enter the working world today without having trained himself to the fullest extent of his own capabilities.

Dean's Message

Mrs. Dorothy M. Armstrong, Secretary

The Coahoma College faculty has deep personal involvement in developing the program of the school. The faculty is dedicated to improving the quality of its college teaching.

This is becoming more important with the increase in the student enrollment. Since the college is not selective in the enrollment of students, we deal with a wide range of pupil ability. The increase of faculty members means a wide range of ability among the teachers also.

The faculty will need to continue examining itself, its instructional practices, and its professional attainments. Student evaluations of the faculty and the program can be most helpful.

This program requires daring and dynamic educational leaders who keep abreast with state and national developments and plan programs designed to help the culturally deprived and others become responsible self directed citizens.

Evaluation of the individual student achievement and effectiveness of educational program has been made more concrete by the "Sights and Sounds" depicted in the 1966 Coahoman. These experiences, activities, and results are a record of the worth of Coahoma.

May I congratulate you the teachers and students who have provided this instrument of evaluation.

Mary G. Whiteside, Dean

REGISTRAR'S MESSAGE

The responsibility of the Registrar's Office increases indirect proportion to the growth and age of the school. In viewing these statistics, the reader is asked to look at the number of students for a particular year and at the same time look at how each year's enrollment adds to the total enrollment over the years. This will provide the mental picture necessary to evaluate the work as it is carried on in our office. The Registrar and his staff feel that there could be no better way to tell the growth story of Coahoma Junior College than by the statistics that appear below:

SCHOOL YEAR	NUMBER ENROLLED
1951-1952	41
1952-1953	117

Principal's Message

I am honored to congratulate the Annual Staff and their sponsors for another banner edition of the Coahoman. Each year we look forward to its publication because of its inspiration and the vital role it will play in recording the history of our school.

Too often, we wait too late to express our appreciation to our co-workers for a job well done. Let the record show that I speak for hundreds and maybe a few thousand students who passed through the portals of CJC and AHS that we owe a debt of gratitude to Mrs. Zee Anderson Barron who has labored through the years to see that the Coahoman went to press, often under severe handicaps.

Let every Coahoman consider: "Hardwork, hard thinking, hard praying--these qualities distinguish a human being from a man." "Look and you will see, listen and you will hear." With faith in human decency and dignity, there is no limit to your achievement.

CLASSES

From the squeals heard in biology to the melodious strains of music, and the click-clacking of office machines, Coahomans are continually surrounded with sounds in all of their classes. When they walk onto the campus they hear sounds of friends talking, laughing and enjoying school life. These sounds make the world of Coahoma's 1980 students.

Miss AHS of 1965-66
ALBERTINE CARTER

Miss Coahoma A. H. S. of 1965-66 is Albertine Elizabeth Carter, daughter of Mrs. Albertine Neely of 651 Lincoln Avenue, Clarksdale, Mississippi.

With all the graces desired in one who has determination to be successful, Miss Carter came to Coahoma Agricultural High School as a graduate from Sherard Junior High School, Sherard, Mississippi.

Since being at A. H. S. Albertine has not only held her own academically, but she has also participated in extracurricular activities. She has been leading clarinetist in the band four years and has served as a member of the 4-H Club, Journalism Club, Mathematics Club, Student Council, and Tri-Hi-Y.

On February 2, 1966, Albertine brought local state, and national recognition and honor to herself, her family, and her school as she was named one of 250 winners in the National Achievement Scholarship Program for outstanding Negro students.

More than 5,600 candidates for the scholarship were nominated by 1,550 schools. The final recipients, chosen from a field of approximately 1,000 finalists, were selected "for their outstanding ability and potential for future accomplishment."

Miss Carter will attend Fisk University at Nashville, Tennessee, and plans to major in biology with the goal of becoming a pediatrician.

Albertine, we, the Coahomans, SALUTE YOU!

COACH GAINES

This Year's Coahoma Junior College Tigers had the best basketball record in the history of the school. The team had an unblemished season record of 14 and 0. Their only setback was a pre-season contest against Utica.

Eight times during the year the Tigers scored 100 points or more. They also set a new single game record of 135 points against Owen. They Clinched the S.I.C. Conference Championship with two games left to play.

From first appearance to the last the coach, his staff, and players exemplified true Coahoma-type character.

Orville Moseley

1. Coa-ho-ma, Coa-ho-ma, we knew be fore thine al-ter, in
 2. Coa-ho-ma, Coa-ho-ma, as though the sun were ris-ing, thy rev'rence, in hom-age, in aon-as-ces-tion strong;
 pro=apple, thy guid-a-nes, will av=ur be our star;
 on the earth where we tread we may or will thy name ex-grade, in the world we keep our place our mem-o-ries of thee re-main,
 we shall - large wings with never an-y broad, we shall not be a-fraid, Coa-do our best to win the bitter race and hon-or to re-tain. Coa-ho-ma, Coa-ho-ma, our aim is not to fal-tor, but to ho-ma, Coa-ho-ma, thy sons are now a-vis-ing, to the be brave in the good life to which we all be-long.
 great call men of con-nage, we shed thy light a-far.
